

Delinea Technical Account Manager

At-A-Glance

IT has enough on its plate. Add to that a new PAM or identity security solution and it can be a struggle to maintain system health, keep up with the latest security threats, and liaise with the vendor for bug fix and enhancement requests. All while trying to respond quickly to the needs of the business. Delinea Technical Account Managers (TAMs) provide relief to help organizations stay on top of things.

Delinea TAMs are experienced professionals that bring their unrivaled product knowledge and proven skills to help streamline deployments and apply best practices to help set the strategic direction for solution optimization and growth.

Many Delinea customers leverage our TAMs to minimize credential-based cybersecurity risks and ensure ROI for their IT investment.
